JOHN HANCOCK writes

By JOHN HANCOCK

SUMMER is singing its swan song, and it looks like at long last, that great Fall Classic known as the World's Series will open on the South Side sponsored by our White Sox.

This writer was raised in the shadow of the Sox park, so it goes without saying we are Sox fans, you know the wild-eyed kind. The years have been long and lean; justifying once more my contention that if you have what it takes to be patient, all things come to pass.

Announcement was made Monday night at the Village Board Meeting that the first hearing of the New Zoning Ordinance would be read soon. The Zoning Commission has worked over a year on this document that will define and establish regulations as to what can be done and where. With an up-to-date Zoning Ordinance in the making, then the Building Ordinance and other Ordinances now on the books will have to be overhauled to bring them in line with the new.

It was also announced that the Village Engineer has about completed plans, facts and figures for a water reservoir that will be financed by Water Revenue Bonds or General Obligation Bonds.

After listening to the Treasurer's report, it appears that White Sox President Bill Veeck is in the middle of two drives — one for the pennant, the other against TB in Chicago. Veeck waves to the crowd as he goes into a mobile X-ray unit at State and Madison for his free chest X-ray. Two mobile units will be at the Loop location until October 2. The free chest checkups are sponsored by the Municipal Tuberculosis Sanitarium and The Tuberculosis Institute of Chicago and Cook County — the Christmas Seal organization.

the Water Revenue has dwindled considerably, and if this is the case, issuance of Water Revenue Bonds would be out of the question if the service earns no money. Whatever type of bond issued, there will have to be a referendum election held, and all the voters of the Village either passing or rejecting.

But we must bear in mind that our Water Department has not been too long out of receivership, and its last big debt was only cleared last year, at a whopping savings to the consumers. There has been some very large bills received by consumers during the last quarter, followed by screaming complaints, without any satisfactory explanation.

After being returned to the Village from Receivership, the Water Department was self supporting, the large debt owed to the City of Harvey was paid off, and the financial health of the service looked good.

Unless the Water Department is efficiently operated at a profit, then it would be silly to set up Bond issues, build Reservoirs; because it would only ship.

Q. I have become a silent partner in a real estate firm. Since I do no work at all, may I report my partnership income as self-employment income?

A. Yes. Even though you do no work, you must report partnership income from a realty business as self-employment income, providing, of course, your distributive share of the partnership profits is at least $400.00 in a year.

Q. I am a self-employed businessman and my father works for me. May I pay social security taxes on his wages?

A. No. Wages paid to a father by a child are excluded by the Social Security Act; nor are wages reported where a spouse works for a spouse or a child under 21 works for a parent.

Q. I am the president of a corporation. Am I self-employed or an employee?

A. You are an employee of the corporation, and your wages must be reported on the same tax return as the other employees.

Q. One of my foremen hired two extra men on a construction job but didn't get their social security numbers. Do I just forget about them in making my quarterly report to the Internal Revenue Service?

A. No. If you cannot locate these men and obtain their social security account numbers, then report them by name and last known address, together with the amount of wages you paid each of them.

On Monday, August 24, 1959, the Robbins Eagle editor was given a surprise birthday party by his sister, Mrs. Myrtle Bullard, who lives at 3453 Yale avenue, Chicago. It was really a surprise, too, and an enjoyable evening was had by all. In the picture (left to right) Mrs. Lena
